But G. E. Glaser, Defendant, Says Plaintiff Wife is Already Divorced. G. E. Glaser, head of a motor transportation company, with offices in the Volunteer State Life building, was made defendant in an unusual suit filed Friday afternoon in the chancery court. Mebelle J. Glaser, former wife of the defendant, is complainant, and besides asking a divorce the wife seeks to have the bank account and property ited up so that defendant cannot touch it. Mr. Glaser states he secured a divorce from the plaintiff some time ago and shortly afterwards married again. He denies that there was any fraud, as charged, attached to his divorce and claims he got a legal separation through the usual legal channels. Judge, Floyd Estill represents Glaser and George W. Chamlee and George T. White represent the wife.

Mr. Glaser counter charges that the recent action on the part of his former wife is pure and simple blackmail. He claims that since his divorce from her he has been paying alimony each month. Recently, he charges, the divorced wife asked for $5,000 from him and hardly before the link on the paper was dry maked for $10,000. Soon after was dry maked for $10,000. Soon a WANTS DIVORCE

Plans for a big local poultry show re put under way at a called meetr of the Chattanooga Poultry association, which was held Friday night, he meeting was one of the most enusiastic and best attended of any lid in some time. Twelve new memrs were admitted to the organization. The first step toward getting ady for the big show will be the sering of coops in which to place the wis on exhibit. The association had large number of coops, but these ere sold to the Chattanooga District air association several years ago and o new pens have been purchased. A symmittee composed of C. T. Tomlindon, H. F. Lawrence, T. M. Marett, W. L. Farrar and A. W. Lucas was apointed to look after the securing of he necessary coops. It is planned to harre a small admission fee, the proceeds going to the Red Cross or some ther war work organization.

It is also planned to hold a series of natructive meetings in the interest of he breeding of thoroughbred poultry or the benefit of the residents of the suitying country districts. The association in Sale Creek in about three weeks, it is planned. Slides will be secured from the agricultural department and will be shown to illustrate the lectures. An effort is being made to interest people in general in poultry arising and poultry clubs are being successfully formed in the public schools by the organization. A great deal of the time of the poultry enthursiasts will be given in the community and school children work.

Wade Farrar, chalrman of the feed formittee, submitted his report and the contract to furnish the members of the association with feed for the next thirty days was awarded to the Wine Feed company. The price will be $4. Margaret Ross, colored, went to the jury in the griminal court Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock after an all-morning argument by counsel for the state and defense. The argument was opened by C. C. Abernathy for the state, who, in an able and adroit summing up, charged that it was the plainest case of murder he had ever heard of and insisted that if a defendant ever merited a conviction it was this one. Mr. Abernathy was followed by Joe Brown, counsel for the defense.
